

“中国”建设火热

An aerial night photograph of the Shanghai Expo 2010 site. The China Pavilion is the central focus, brightly lit with blue and white lights, featuring a large, illuminated 'S' shape. To its right is the large, curved, white-roofed China National Center for Superconductivity. In the background, the Shanghai skyline is visible, including the Oriental Pearl Tower and the Jin Mao Tower, all illuminated against the dark night sky. The foreground shows the Expo Axis and other exhibition areas, also lit up. The overall scene depicts a vibrant and bustling international event.